VACATION AT NORTHPORT.

We grew so weary of each other, Toil and I,
That when we sat within our little room,
We shrank apart; a sullen, settled gloom
Was on our faces, neither saying why.

And so one day, when I was sick and worn,
I ran away where morning sunbeams fell—
A drowsy sweetness filled each nook and dell,
From summer winds and summer roses born,

And tarried not until I caught a gleam
Of yonder sea, so beautiful and grand,
Where wild, white waves were dashing on the strand,

And I was glad;—so will I stay and dream,

Never returning till the Autumn dips
The golden fringes in delightful dyes,
Waking the woodlands with a sweet surprise,
Of gorgeous coloring, and the wild bee sips

From ripened fruit instead of honied bloom,
And days grow short, and nights are cool and long,

Then I'll go back with lightened heart and song,
And fill with joy the old, deserted room.
So. Windham, Me. P. C. D.

THE SEA AT NORTHPORT.

Come to my arms, ye roasted,
Cool is my soft embrace,
My powers of bracing, boasted,
Bring balm to the scorching and toasted,
And joy to the sweltering race.
Sing heigh, sing ho,
As the cooling breezes blow,
My roar on the beach
And the sea gull's screech
Is the song for the watering place.

AT CLEARVIEW COTTAGE.

With royal roses for my pillow,
Cradled within my hammock light,
I swing beside the bounding billow,
As softly steals the shades of night.
A boat-song ripples through the gloaming,
The crescent moon is bright for me,
And one by one are slowly coming,
The silver stars above the sea.
P. C. D.

South from the beautiful islands,
South from the headlands and highlands,
The long sea wall,
The white ships flee with the swallow;
The day-beams follow and follow
Glitter and fall.
The brown, ruddy children that fear not
Lean over the quay, and hear not
Warnings of lips;
For their hearts go a-sailing, a-sailing,
Out from the wharves and the railing
After the ships.

BY THE SEASHORE.

The seaside season has now fairly opened and for the next six weeks a stream of humanity will pour out of the inland cities, villages and towns, to the sea shore, where the salt breezes of old ocean, and its attendants of bathing, fishing, sailing, rowing, eating and sleeping, will help restore many a tired physical system and lengthen out the life span of thousands of human beings. Every harbor, bay and cove that indents Maine's noble coast, will have its visitors. The hotels will have their hosts. All the old cottages will be occu-pled by their fortunate owners, and new ones are going up. A jolly army will encamp under canvas. Men will probably go and take their wives and children, this year, who never thought of going before. People who spent two weeks last year, will spend four weeks this season.

So it should be, for it has come to pass that few people are too busy or too poor to afford themselves a summer rest. The millionaire has his seaside palace, as well as his mansion on the avenue. The average citizen makes a weekly trip to his modest seaside cottage. The poor man camps on the beach with his brood in a tent, sleeps on boughs, maybe, and revels for a few happy weeks in the same salt air, lobsters, clams and sea-baths that give his wealthy neighbor so much enjoyment. Old Ocean recognizes neither money nor rank, and breathes the same refreshment and new-life into the lungs of comers of all degrees and conditions.

This is one of the results of the experience of the past ten years. The masses have found out the secret. An exchange very truly says:—A summer by the sea for the masses is a comparatively new idea. The thought of a summer resort formerly carried with it visions of high-priced hotels, enormous board bills, costly clothes and expenses that the man of ordinary means dared not dream of. It was true that he couldn't afford "a summer vacation" on this scale. But there has been a happy change in sentiment and custom. There are all these gayeties and big bills for the butterflies that want to pay for them. The masses have a more sensible fashion. They have demonstrated that the pleasures of a seashore visit do not consist of boarding at a $25 per week hotel or wearing purple and fine linen, and that there really is more satisfaction in "roughing it" in a plain cottage or even in a roughly constructed "camp," and devoting one's self to rest, old flannel shirt as in a swallow-tail. There's as much tonic to the spoonful, in the home-made chowder as in the French soup served by a high-starched waiter—and a little more, if you caught the fish or dug the clams, yourself.

Yes, there is room enough and to spare for all, and while we congratulate ourselves on the fashion which sets seaward and Maineward we should also congratulate ourselves that we as a State are the great gainers thereby from a material point of view, for it has been estimated that the amount of money annually brought into Maine from outside is greater than the value of any State production unless it be our hay crop. So let us look well to our harvests and make our resorts so pleasant that the returns shall be manyfold.

NORTHPORT SPIRITUAL TEMPLE.

Since last season another camp-meeting association has located at Northport. It is of the denomination of Spiritualists and was chartered by the last legislature under the name of the Maine State Spiritual Temple. John Herrick, of Bradley, is president with a board of directors, among whom are Geo. Garland, of Oldtown, and John N. Stewart, of Belfast.

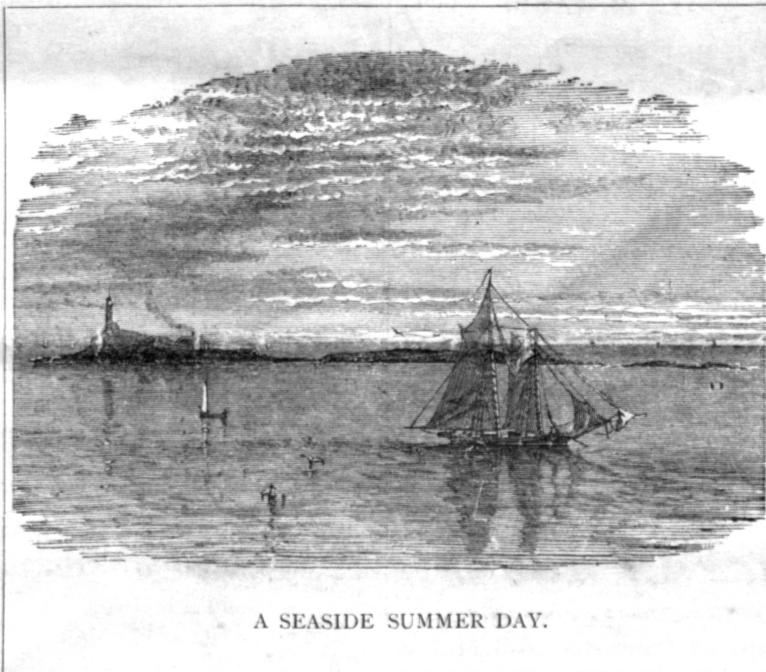

The Temple is located on the shore below the Bluff and about 2½ miles from the steamboat wharf on the Grounds. The farm purchased contained 100 acres, 40 of which are in timber including a fine old growth beech grove near the shore of the Bay, in which will be located the stand, seats, &c., &c., of the society.

Some work has already been done by way of clearing up brush, grading, &c., and more will follow at once. Mr. Stewart, of Belfast, will soon erect a large storehouse for general storage purposes, and will build an altar, auditorium, &c., for meetings. The arrangements this year will be largely temporary, but next season no doubt will see quite a little community there.

A number of lots have already been sold. Frank Black, of Belfast, will build a cottage this year and Capt. F. Cunningham, of Northport, one early next year. The directors will meet on the grounds early next month and arrange various matters. It is expected to hold a camp-meeting this year of about three days time, late in August.

The new Green Mountain Railroad up Mount Desert is 6,300 feet long, and is like the road up Mount Washington, except that is laid on the ground, and in many places is bolted down to the rock ledges. In one place the grade rises one foot in three for 500 feet. A little steamer, Wauwinet has been placed on Eagle Lake, part way up the side of the mountain. A new three-story hotel has been built on the summit, 1,800 feet above the sea level. It is called the Summit House and is kept by H. W. Chase, of Bangor, who had charge of the Waverley here last year.

Bathing has commenced at the western resorts. A little too cold for down east.

A SEASIDE SUMMER DAY.

THE SEA BREEZE.

SEASIDE SEASON, 1883.

ABOUT NORTHPORT.

HISTORICAL AND DESCRIPTIVE.

It is but a few years since our quiet, cozy, pleasant, little seaside resort at Northport, where old ocean rolls in his waves at our feet, and the cooling breezes sigh through shady groves on the shores of the grand old Penobscot bay, was little more than an unbroken wilderness.

In 1848 the East Maine Methodist C. M. Association located here, purchasing 25 acres of land. In August, 1849, the first Camp-meeting was held here, and for nearly twenty-five years it was occupied only a week each year for meetings, with no indication that it would ever become a popular summer resort.

But with the growing fashion for spending summer vacations at the seaside, the attention of the people in this section of the State was turned toward Northport, as a desirable place for summer residences. The pioneer cottage was built in 1869, and several purchases of land have been made since, and the whole is enclosed under the Society's control.

As the place became better known, and its attractions of pure air, cleanliness, quietude and all other virtues which go to make up a pleasant and needful place of resort, were fully understood, it began to grow, and during the past five years it has become so thickly studded with cottages as to resemble a village, while all along the shore, on either side of the Grounds, the movement has kept pace, and the shore, almost from Belfast city to several miles beyond the Grounds, is thickly dotted with cottages of summer residents, many of them being costly and valuable as well as stylish. There are 175 cottages on and in the immediate vicinity of the Grounds, more being built annually.

Real estate has increased in value wonderfully, until what was supposed and valued as the poorest part of Northport is the most valuable and pays the most taxes.

The view from the Grounds seaward and from the cottages along the shore is beautiful, for the whole broad expanse of Penobscot Bay lies before us—a bay which travelers say rivals the far-famed Bay of Naples, dotted here and there with the white sails of lumber-laden vessels from Bangor, or swift flying sail-boats, and daily with majestic steamers plowing past and sending billowy, surfy waves breaking with hollow roar against the shore, while at the south the islands stand guard to keep out the rough Atlantic storms. Across to eastward is the village of Castine, ancient historical and modern educational ground, while at the north lies Brigadier's Island and the villages of Stockton and Searsport, with the spires and harbor of Belfast in the near distance.

The facilities for recreation are fine. There is good bathing and rowing, and fine drives in the neighborhood, Belfast being near and Mt. Percival or the Bluff only a mile off, from which can be obtained a splendid view of the scenery in the neighborhood; the sailing is safe and roomy, and the fishing privileges fine within a stone's throw of the shore.

One of the greatest advantages of Northport, as a summer resort, is the location and conveniences for reaching and leaving here at short notice. The Boston boats touch at the wharf daily to and from Boston and intermediate landings to Bangor. Small steamers ply daily to and from Bangor, Belfast, Castine and Islesboro, while hacks connect with the Me. Central R. R. at Belfast, a short distance up shore, from where trains leave twice a day for all parts of the country.

Waverley House,
Northport Camp-Ground, Me.
C. H. BUSWELL, Propr.

As Northport is beautifully situated on the Penobscot Bay, and has become one of the pleasantest and most popular Summer Resorts in Maine, the WAVERLEY specially commends itself to the public.

A daily line of Steamers and excursion boats ply between this place and Boston, Bangor and all points on the river and bay. Excellent stage accommodations connect with all passenger trains to and from Belfast. First-class board by day or week at reasonable rates, and no pains will be spared to make the WAVERLEY first-class in all its appointments.

A first-class baker will be employed so that families living or tenting on the Grounds can be accommodated with all the bread and beans wanted.

If you want plenty of shade, cooling breezes, quiet and ease, reasonable prices, convenient and quick transportation, fine sailing, boating and fishing, and to breath in the pure, salt, invigorating sea air, come to Northport, and visit the Waverley.

THE SEA BREEZE.

SATURDAY, JULY 21, 1883.

GEO. E. BRACKETT, Editor.

HOW D'YE DO!

We herewith present No. 1, of Vol. 5 of the SEA BREEZE for your inspection and judgment. In accordance with our promise of last season we have enlarged it to double the size of previous years, and we hope to make its contents as interesting and valuable at least as the volumes gone before. We shall see what we shall see.

To our old readers and patrons we have to say only good morning, and wish you another pleasant season, wherever you may be. To the new ones, welcome to Northport and its chronicles. We trust the season's experiences may be as pleasant as have the bygone ones to the rest of us.

We have arranged for some new features which we trust will make our little sheet the more welcome and worth remembering, but as we remember and believe in the homely old saying that "the proof of the pudding is in the eating," we will let the paper speak for itself.

Wishing you and yours a profitable, pleasant, and happy vacation season, and that you may grow brown, hearty, and healthy, with a good digestion and a clear conscience, we enter upon the seaside seasons record of doings for 1883.

BUILDING FOR THE SEASON.

The growth of Northport is not spasmodic nor very large annually, but every year shows its additions in buildings and cottages and consequent population. There is also a large amount of improving, adding to, and repairing which while it does not make so much show as in new buildings, yet adds greatly to the value, convenience, and beauty of the cottages and the place. There has been more of this this year perhaps than ever before. We note additions and improvements this season as follows:

Capt. R. H. Coombs, of Belfast, has erected a Pavilion on So. Shore, for use as a public hall, skating rink, &c., &c. It is 80x40 feet in size, two stories high, clapboarded, blinded and painted, and built in the best manner throughout. The floor is of hard wood very smooth and nice, galleries run around three sides of the hall, and it is furnished with orchestra stand, ladies' retiring room, office, kitchen, &c., and in the second story of one end is a large dining room. It will prove a great convenience for entertainments, use of excursionists, &c. It is open for the season and under the management of Capt. R. H. and his brother Jordan Coombs.

The Ocean House has been enlarged by the addition of a kitchen, and several dormer windows, adding some half dozen rooms to the house. Mr. Benner has also built a new ice house.

A large two story building to be used as a carriage room and billiard hall has been built near the Glade House.

A large building is being erected on the Belfast road a mile above the Grounds which it is reported will be used for a hotel. It is up and boarded, is three stories including the mansard roof, and will be ready for occupancy by another season. It is built for Mr. A. Burkmar, of Boston.

Geo. E. Brackett, of Belfast, has bought a cottage on an upper street moved it down to So. Shore Avenue and finished it up for renting, &c. It is named Shady cottage.

John G. Damon, on So. Shore, has raised his cottage several feet, and built a new stable. He has sold his upper cottage and lot to Geo. O. Bailey, of Belfast.

Clear View cottage on So. Shore, where the SEA BREEZE latch string hangs out, has been raised, and a veranda built which is 18x15 feet, affording space for receiving our friends. Call.

Chas. G. Glidden, of Brewer, is building a very tasty cottage on Oak street near Bay View Square.

Frank P. Eames, of Belfast, who purchased Ben. Wells' cottage near Merithew Square has erected a new one in front and connected with the old one.

C. J. Burgess, of Belfast, has rebuilt his lillipution cottage on Park row and painted it in the red, white and blue.

J. A. Maynard, of Waterville, is building a large veranda around his Maynard cottage on Park Row.

J. F. Parkhurst, of Bangor, has built a piazza and veranda, and generally improved his cottage on corner of Main and George streets.

J. W. Wallace and others of Jackson are building a cottage on Main St.

Mr. Glidden is building a nice gothic cottage in the Hill's pasture for Miss Hattie Howe, of Boston.

Mr. Bending, of Bucksport, has erected a good large cottage on Maple St.

THE CANTATA OF DAVID is now in active rehearsal and will be given on Thursday, August 9th, with a chorus of five hundred voices, under the direction of Prof. L. A. Torrens. Choruses have been formed and are rehearsing in Belfast, Bangor, Lincoln, Dexter, Waterville, Bucksport and other places. It will be—next to Camp-meeting—the event of the season. Dr. E. T. Wasgatt, of Bangor, is business manager and is giving special attention to working up details. Low rates and excursion tickets will be arranged on the steamers and railroads even to Aroostook, the Bangor band will furnish instrumental music, a large number of soloists are engaged, the costumes will be rich, and under the powerful calcium lights the evening's entertainment will be very pleasing. Programme and full particulars in next week's SEA BREEZE.

The Rambler says: "Den leiben taugen tag" has no existence at Old Orchard. What between eating and drinking, bathing and sleeping, flirting and funning, making wives jealous and husbands more so, boating and fishing, smoking and lounging, there is not a moment to be counted. It is not surprising that people continue to visit us year after year, from childhood to old age. As a friend of ours says, it is the most delightful place imaginable for loafing, or for what the Italians call 'Dolce far niente'—the sweet doing nothing."

A double quintette of vacationists went across the bay Tuesday to Castine and Islesboro, under the charge of Capt. Clark of the yacht Sea Breeze. They voted it a glorious cruise and a jolly good time.

The crowd was made up of the following: W. W. Pierce and H. S. Philbrick, of Boston; Chas. F. Ward and F. R. and J. L. Philbrick, of Skowhegan. Misses, Frantie Webber, St. Albans; V. B. Blaisdell, Boston; Carrie Collett, Bangor; Cora and May Elliott, Skowhegan.

Fort Knox, opposite Bucksport, is becoming quite a noted place for excursions.

The demand for cottage rents was never better than this year. Cottages for the season rent from $25 to $75 according to their location and fitting up, and from $5 to $12 per week, except Camp-meeting week when the price is about double. See our ads. for some good ones to rent.

PERSONALITIES.

Mr. Ruggles, Supt of the Grounds, is busy putting matters and things into a shipshape condition for the season.—C. H. Buswell, of Bangor, is the proprietor of the Waverley House this year.—Miss May Cutter, of Bangor, has thrown music to the winds for a season and will spend her vacation at their cottage near Breezy Point.—H. J. Locke, of Belfast, is vacationing with his family at Willow cottage below the city.—S. W. Cook, of Lewiston, a well known Oddfellow, pulled the SEA BREEZE latchstring last week.—Mrs. J. D. Tucker, of Belfast, is at her Forest Home on Broadway.—Les. Cutter, of Bangor, who has been vacationing a week here has gone onto the engineer corps of the railroad from Bangor Aroostookward.—Charley Nason, of Hampden, is clerk of the Waverley this season.—Jack Harriman, Northport's veteran expressman from Belfast, is on the route again as smiling as ever.—Mrs. M. Walker, of Clearwater, and Mrs. A. V. Whiting, of St. Cloud, Minn., are visiting the Mansfields' at Shady Bank cottage So. Shore.—Richard H. Rankin and family, of Boston, have rented the Marston cottage on Park Row.—Mrs. A. J. Chase, of Portland, is stopping for a season with friends at Beechnut cottage on Broadway.—Mrs. Tuttle is running the photograph gallery, and Mrs. Conant the store, which proves that women can do business in good shape.—Wm. Ray and family, of New York, have rented and will occupy "Borriboolagha" cottage on Broadway for the season.—Williard Jones' family, of Fairfield, are at Davis' wigwam for the summer.—Mr. J. C. Atwood and wife, of Winterport, are guests of Mrs. J. W. Brown in Bay View Square.—The families of D. A. Sargent and J. H. James, of Brewer, are settled in their respective cottages for the summer.—H. H. Andrews and family, of Bangor, are again at their summer home on Bay View Square.—Miss Chamberlain, the whistling artist, lately left her signature on the SEA BREEZE register at Clear View.—Our old time readers will recognize the familiar initials of Mrs. Dole appended to some poems throughout this season's volume.

Have you been upon Mt. Pleasant?

A revenue cutter was in the harbor Wednesday.

Twombles' four-horse buckboard is a daisy cutter for a small excursion party.

Several Belfast teachers are taking a few days' rest at the Beale cottage on North avenue.

On dit, it is rumored that potato bugs will go to the hills this summer instead of the seashore.

The first candy pull of the season came off at Nonpariel cottage near Bayview Square, this week.

The Bow family, of Rockland, have opened their stores at the "chain" and their shops under the hotel.

No more use for wood for fuel. Get an oil stove. They are the boss articles for the seashore. See ads.

Quite a rarity in marine architecture, in the form of a four masted schooner, was off the Grounds Thursday.

The Handel Society, of Bangor, will make their annual excursion this year to Vinalhaven on the steamer Katahdin, Monday, July 30th.

The grounds and streets connected therewith are beginning to swarm with pedlers and hucksters of all sorts of articles and edibles. No need of starving here for lack of food, even if our appetites are voracious.

We can furnish a few files of last year's SEA BREEZE.

Physicians say there is no exercise superior to rowing.

Camp-meeting at No. Castine commences Monday, Aug. 13th.

The Universalists, of Bangor, excursioned here on the barge Wednesday.

Last Thursday was the first clear day Bar Harbor had seen for nearly two weeks.

The first electric light at Northport will be at the grand cantata the evening of Aug. 9th.

Did anybody at the seaside growl about the fog this week? Don't all answer at once.

The Aroostook Valley Camp-meeting commences Monday, August 6th and closes the 11th.

Howard Murphy has built a nice cottage on his point, near Little River and christened it Bellevue.

Newell Mansfield and family, of Belfast, are at their cottage, Shady Bank, on So. Shore, for the season.

The modern dude hasn't yet put in an appearance at Northport. When he arrives we will report him.

Capt. Ingraham, of Stmr. Cambridge, saluted Clear View Wednesday, on the down trip. Call again, Capt.

The modern fashionable game of Lawn Tennis has been domesticated. Its first appearance here was at the Pitcher cottage.

The Methodist and Free-Will Baptist societies of Rockland advertise an excursion here by the Boston boat, next Tuesday, July 24th.

The family of Chas. Buffum, of New Hampshire, are occupying their cottage on George St. He will be here occasionally during the season.

Northport is one of the best harbors on the coast, and whenever there is an "out wind" the up-river loaded western bound vessels run in for anchorage.

Asa Howes, of Belfast, has rented the Frye cottage on Murphy's Point, above Little River, and with his family will occupy it during the warm season.

Anything lost, found, stolen or wanted, can be advertised in the SEA BREEZE, at 25 cents for each insertion. Leave word with the clerk at the Waverley.

Remember that live business men advertise, and read what they have to say to you in our advertising columns. They are all worthy of perusal. We shall call special attention to the larger ones in future numbers.

In this connection we extend our thanks to our advertising patrons for their very generous support. It is much larger than we expected. May your ads. be seed sown which will produce fruit manyfold.

Shady cottage on So. Shore Avenue can be rented at low rates prior to Camp-meeting week, by the day or week, for picnics or camping out. Apply to the publishers of this paper, 10 Main St., Belfast, or at Clear View cottage.

There is a misunderstanding in some minds in regard to the title to the lots on the Grounds. It is supposed by some that they are only leased by the Association for a specified time, whereas they are leased in perpetuum, which is virtually as good as a warrant deed.

The annual union temperance camp-meeting will be held at Lake Maranocook on Saturday and Sunday, July 28th and 29th. Numerous and able speakers will be present, music furnished by Chandler's band, and several soloists, and specially low rates and extra trains will be arranged for.

THE SEA BREEZE.

SATURDAY, JULY 21, 1883.

WAVELETS.

It's too cold for bathing.

Advice to new arrivals:—Clams bite best at low water.

Cunners, did you say? Yes, they are a delicious pan-fish.

The arrival of the Boston steamer is the event of Sunday mornings.

The boat fleet has nearly all arrived, and they are moored all along shore.

H. C. Marden, of Belfast, has rented Popular cottage, on So. Shore, and with his family will occupy it for the season.

Newell and A. P. Mansfield, of Belfast, own three of the best cottages on So. Shore, named Fairpoint, Seaside and Shady Bank.

Capt. C. C. Babbidge, of Belfast, has rented one of the Cutter cottages on So. Shore, and his family are now in possession for the summer.

Glen cottage, on the extreme So. Shore, owned by J. C. Thompson, of Belfast, is being occupied for a season by R. B. Rogers and family, of Boston.

C. W. Curtis and family, of Dexter, who occupied their cottage on Park Row a part of July, will return again and spend their vacation here in August.

Ben Wells, of Belfast, has been making extensive additions to his cottage, Great View, just below Little River, including new veranda, summer house, grading, painting, &c.

Arrangements have been made to repair the wharf at once. A pile driving machine, a crew of men, and lumber, including some 60 huge piles, have been engaged from up river.

How do you like the looks of this vol. of the S. B. If you are satisfied don't be selfish; send a copy to your friends. Single copies may be had, or subscriptions left, at the hotel office on the Grounds.

The Boston Advertiser showed its enterprise and good taste by issuing a special summer resort edition, but the compiler thereof showed his ignorance by omitting Northport from the long list of Maine resorts, while a multitude of 7x9 places are given prominence. We don't care—of course not—but then!

Chas. Fifield, of Hampden, is the only and original pioneer cottage resident at Northport. He arrived this season in May, and for several seasons has been the earliest comer and the latest to leave in Autumn. He knows Northport in all her moods and tenses, and is of a temperament to fully and thoroughly enjoy the natural pleasures of the season.

Lobsters are again quite plenty along So. Shore. Uncle Rowe's lobster pots pan out well, and some very good specimens are taken. For several years none worth mentioning have been caught here, and their return will be glad news to the lovers of the toothsome crustacean. A well done lobster, hot and fresh from the boiling pot, is indeed sweet eating. Have a claw?

Indications are now favorable for connecting Northport with the rest of the world by telephone. A line is being built from Bangor through the river towns, Belfast to Rockland. It will probably follow the route of the telegraph wires, which brings it to Brown's Corner, just above the Grounds, and the expense will be small to connect from there to the Waverley House. It is expected to have the line in working order as far as here, by Camp-Meeting week.

Capt. Coombs flies a fine large flag over the Pavilion.

There were 20 vessels in Northport harbor Wednesday night.

The Garland cottage on So. Shore is occupied by their family and friends.

The tax collector is ready to receive your ducats, as per notice in another column.

You will find extra copies of the SEA BREEZE on sale at the hotel at all times.

H. L. Lord, of Belfast, occupies his Retreat cottage occasionally, located on North Shore.

Gene McDonald has rented his cottage on No. Shore for the season to the Carman family, of New York.

F. R. Webber, of St. Albans, has sold his cottage at the foot of Waverley square to Chas. H. Gray, of Oldtown.

The tinkers have struck in and can be caught off shore. They are delicious eating. Try your hand at the sport of catching.

If you want some stationery with Northport printed headings on the paper and the envelopes, leave orders with the carrier boy.

If there is a prettier or better bay for pleasure sailing, than the broad Penobscot here at Northport, then our geography is at fault.

S. W. Colby and D. C. Smith, of Belfast, have rented Mansfield's Fair Point cottage on So. Shore, and their families are located there for the season.

An exchange says: There are eleven millionaires at Bar Harbor. Well, it takes just about an even million to enjoy Bar Harbor in good shape.

Capt. R. H. Coombs and family, of Belfast, have been occupying their cottage on So. Shore, Beechwood, for five weeks, and will remain during the season.

What do you think of our illustration on the first page. We have arranged for one for each number for the season, treating of subjects appropriate for our columns.

Read the notice of the sanitary committee and remember and conform, for cleanliness is said to be a long way towards godliness, as it certainly is towards securing health.

The excursion season is in full blast. On Tuesday the Baptist society of Bangor and Brewer came here on the steamer Queen City, and the Methodists on the barge Clifford.

Mrs. Lo has arrived and pitched her wigwam at "the chain." This is the first delegation of the aborigines we have ever had at Northport since the pale faces have been in possession.

A delegation of Bangoreans came down Saturday and located for the season at Saturday Cove. We will have a breeze from there next week. The "Covers" are a jolly good set of seaiders.

The seaside papers which have already blown into our sanctum this season are the Squid of Squirrel Island, the Herald, and the Tourist of Bar Harbor, the Sea Shell, and the Rambler of Old Orchard.

If you have any items of news or matters of interest you wish inserted in the SEA BREEZE write it out, sign your name for reference, enclose it in an envelope and leave it at the postoffice at the hotel and it will receive due attention.

Don't fail to impress on all correspondents from or to our seaside retreat that our P. O. is Northport Camp-Ground, in full and with no abbreviations. There are several other post offices in Northport, and unless the word "Camp Ground" is put on the address mail matter will be likely to go to some other part of the town.

COTTAGE NAMES. Cottage owners wanting the names of their cottages put on record can be accommodated by handing us their name and name of cottage, and location. If not already named select some short and appropriate title and the SEA BREEZE will embalm it in printer's ink. Nearly every cottage on So. Shore has its distinctive name, which is found to be very convenient.

The following guests from out of the State have lately registered at the Waverley House:—

J. W. Hobart, L. A. Torrens, Mrs. A. D. Christopher and son, F. E. Davis, M. C. Hervey, H. S. Philbrick, J. H. Dunne, E. A. Harriman, C. L. and Mrs. A. L. Spratt, F. S. Pinkham, Arthur Gray, J. C. 90° IN THE SHADE.

"O for a lodge in a garden of cucumbers!
 O for an iceberg or two at control!
 O for a vale that at midday the dew cumbers!
 O for a pleasure trip up to the pole!
 O for a little one-story thermometer!
 With nothing but zeros all ranged in a row!
 O for a big double-barreled hygrometer,
 To measure the moisture that rolls from my brow!
 O that this cold world were twenty times colder!
 (That's irony red hot, it seemeth to me).
 O for a turn of its dreadful cold shoulder!
 O what a comfort an ague would be!
 O for a grotto frost-lined and rill-riven,
 Scooped in the rock under cataract vast!
 O for a winter of discontent even!
 O for wet blankets judiciously cast!
 O for a soda-fount spouting up boldly
 From every hot lamp post against the hot sky!
 O for proud maiden to look at me coldly,
 Freezing my soul with a glance of her eye."

ZEPHYRS.

The seaside season has fairly commenced. The breeze is so stiff at Atlantic City that the dudes carry weights in their pockets for fear of being blown away.

The coolest place just now is in mid ocean. If you can't get there, go on one of the ocean piers and you will get some idea of it.

There is music in the air at the seashore now. Each hotel and summer garden vies with its neighbor in the matter of orchestral attraction.

It will be difficult to maintain high prices at the summer resort hotels this season, for the spirit of economy is too generally manifested among the people.

Newport is scandalized because some of the new cottagers—rich but vulgar people—sit out on the front piazza in their shirt sleeves. Isn't it perfectly horrid?

They play tennis on the beach at Cape May—which is hard and smooth as any floor—and the wild waves are saying that the players make a pretty picture by the sea.

Elegant costumes are already displayed by the ladies at Newport who ride about in open carriages in the cool of the evening, and as for sunshades the world never saw them as elaborate or as elegant as this year.

This is the season when the suburban boarder goes swimming in the adjacent creek and comes out scratched and bruised on stumps and snags and covered with mud from head to foot.

Adirondack tourists are already on the march, and the guides have all come to the front with customary rapidity. The tourists are most fortunate who do not have to do with the guides.

The electric light at the shore drives away freckles and sunburn for the time being, and young ladies who all day long are spotted and brown as berries for the nonce look fair and charming.

At some of the resort hotels on the New England coast they charge people who are not residents of the hotel ten cents to sit on the piazza and listen to the music. All of which goes to prove that it is a good thing to make hay when the sun shines.

A few days has made a great difference in the condition of matters and things at Saratoga. All is life activity now, and every day adds to the number of people at the hotels. It is the watering place of all others to see fashionable life.

There is terrific social excitement at Newport because a family has taken a cottage and does not "keep carriages and horses." Everybody is wondering what on earth they came to Newport for. It is one of the most remarkable cases of the kind on record.

ACROSS THE BAY.

Taking advantage of a day this week when the steamer May Queen made a round trip, we embarked in the fog for a trip across the Bay, under the charge of Capt. Tapley, who is so well acquainted with the bars, ledges and currents of the Penobscot that a fog-bank is no hindrance to a trip on time. Fortunately the fog lifted early and gave us a fine day and a very pleasant excursion.

As we neared Turtle Head, the summer residence of Dr. Davis, "the hermit," the steamer signalled and his man "Friday" came off in a boat and took ashore his mail and two passengers on a visit to the island. As the steamer passed on the Dr. gave us a parting salute from his 1 pounder mounted on the highest point of the island. By the way, if the Dr. is as lavish of salutes every day in the week his gunpowder bill must be a large one at the end of the season. However we will consider the double salute that day in honor of the SEA BREEZE.

The next landing place is Ryder's Cove or No. Islesboro. We had not visited the place for two years and there is considerable improvement manifest in the hotel, wharf, buildings, &c. There are now nearly 25 cottages in all and some of those just being finished are very tasty and pretty. The twin Italian villa style cottages just erected by Robinson and Ayle, of Bangor, are especially noticeable. W. H. Milliken, of Bangor, has one on the height which is the most costly on the island. The air is very cool and bracing here, but the great drawback on this island is the lack of shade. All the cottages are under the glaring sun and there is hardly shade enough within a half mile of the wharf to afford shelter for a small picnic excursion.

Across from the island is Castine, well known as one of the quietest, loveliest and most romantic little seashore villages in Maine. In the new Acadian House it now boasts of a hotel equal to those of the more famous resorts of the State, and we are glad to learn the indications are favorable for a large business this season.

MT. PERCIVAL. This is one of the places that changes not with the coming and going of the seasons. The eternal hill is there, and the view in all its vastness and grandeur is almost the same as in the centuries that are past.

The owner, Mr. H. E. Peirce, of Belfast, has generously cleared and built a carriage road from the main road to the summit, keeps it in repair annually, has cleared out a fine spring of water, furnished tables for picnics, and furnished a book or register under a weather proof desk in which visitors may record their names. Much credit is due him for his public spirit and we trust visitors will at least so far show their gratitude as to use the conveniences and the register especially, only for the purposes intended.

THE LATEST REVISION.

An eminent scholar visiting Northport got strayed away in an evening ramble along the Bluff shore, and to keep his courage up and his mind cool and clear perpetuated the following revision of the familiar nursery rhyme, "Twinkle, twinkle, little star":—
 Shine with irregular, intermitted light, sparkle at intervals, diminutive luminous heavenly body,
 How I conjecture, with surprise, not unmixed with uncertainty, what you are,
 Located, apparently, at such a remote distance from and at a height so vastly superior to this earth, the planet we inhabit,
 Similar in general appearance and refractory powers to the precious primitive octahedron crystal of pure carbon, set in the aerial region surrounding the earth.
